“Why do we exist”? It is such a fundamental question, and we have been reaffirming our answer which is “to build resilience and opportunities with people in rural communities”. It is a time when we need to be very clear about this as we consider and deliver the wide range of social programs in the communities in which we operate. It will guide us on the journey ahead with its many looming changes and challenges.

Speaking of change, this year’s big news has been the retirement of Rob Foggo. As our founding CEO, he has overseen and led the organisation from those early beginnings through amazing growth, to the well respected and effective organisation it has become. We owe Rob a great debt of gratitude for his dedication to the cause of people in need, his hard working leadership of many teams of talented caring staff for over 25 years, and for making ac.care what it is today. We wish him and his very supportive understanding wife Denise, all the best for the future.

As a result we have been faced with the task of finding a new CEO and the Board is pleased to announce that Shane Maddocks has been appointed to lead ac.care as we continue on our journey for a sustainable future, as a prominent participant working with others to build up community, and to show that ac.care and the Anglican Church, has a deep commitment to serve people in need.

Michael Bleby
Convenor, Board of Directors
It seems like the last 25 years have come and gone very quickly, but over that time I have gathered a lot of great memories. From those early days, at our then only office, Acacia St. where our staff of 5 used to meet over a shared lunch, a culture of care for each other, and compassion for those with whom we worked, was strong. Now, all these years later, I am very proud that the same care and compassion still is strong amongst our 250 staff, working out of 9 offices and 6 Therapeutic Strength Based Care houses. We have grown from a small NGO operating out of Mount Gambier, to the largest NGO operating out of the southern country region of South Australia. But this growth would have been for nought, if it wasn’t supported by that culture of care and compassion.

As we grew as an organisation, so did the support we received from the communities in which we worked. The business community, local government, service clubs, Aboriginal leaders, other non-government organisations and government departments, a number of volunteers (including over 150 foster families who open their homes and hearts to our children), all joined with us in strengthening and supporting those in need living in our regional communities. Together we have been able to make a significant positive difference.

I would like to thank everyone that has worked with me over the last 25 years, especially our wonderful staff, foster families and Board Directors. I would like to give a special mention to my family who have made many sacrifices over the years and provided me with unlimited support, without which I could not have done as much, or lasted as long as I did. It is now their turn.

Many, many thanks.

Executive Leadership Team update

The start of the 2016-2017 financial year marked the formation of the Executive Leadership Team (ELT) – a new part of ac.care’s structure, and a key enabler for a smooth transition to a new CEO.

The ELT brings a well-qualified, broad range of perspectives to ac.care’s governance and ensures informed and strategic decision-making.

Its members share their expertise in service delivery, governance, strategy, finance, people and culture and risk management. Collectively, they explore possible futures and solve current challenges to build an adaptive and innovative organisation.

The ELT provides the solid base for compassionate and impactful approaches to client and community issues – to build resilience and opportunities with country people for a great future.

The track record for its first year of operation include:

- Formalised decision-making processes for strategic partnerships for the dis/continuation of specific services and for grant funding applications
- An in-depth analysis of the current challenges and opportunities for the sustainability of ac.care
- A commitment to professional development put into practice – with ELT members trained in Lean leadership and in company directorship
- The establishment of the Community Services Leadership team and the Operational Leadership team. These senior management groups share their collective expertise and resources to find innovative solutions to maximise opportunities for and with people in our communities.
- The re-accreditation of ac.care under the Australian Service Excellence Standards at both Certificate and Award level

We are deeply grateful for the support, passion and trust from our colleagues. It is you who change plans into reality for country people.

No wrong door

We have a philosophy of ‘no wrong door’. This means when someone comes to us we only ask their story once, so they do not have to keep telling it over and over again to different people. We share these client stories to give examples of why people use our services and how we are able to assist them.

Opening doors leads to home

Opening Doors provides individual support services for Aboriginal young people aged 15 to 25. It operates from our Berri office and is funded by Country Health SA Local Heal Network Inc.

“It’s a place you can always go to. You are always welcome, and you are always safe. You can’t do anything wrong at home. It’s a place to make your memories. Home is what you make it.”

Stability had been really important to Etho and knowing he had a bed every night was one of a number of things that helped his confidence grow.

“I find myself speaking much more intelligently. I used to be very quiet and not say much because I didn’t think I was smart enough.”

“Opening Doors has helped me in so many ways. From getting my L’s to schooling, and of course living here. You guys have really helped to keep me staying on the right track. The service has really helped me to work out that I need to help myself.”

“I am so much more independent which helps me with my confidence. I speak to people a lot more now than I used to. I am handling my money so much better.”

Our worker Robin asked him what we could do to improve the program

“I really can’t say – you guys have done so much for me. But, I guess you could increase awareness of the program and what is possible.”
Best Thing I Ever Did

We wanted to better support fathers who used our Children’s Contact Service.

Our family services team trialed a specific Circle of Security parenting program for these parents to give them the skills and knowledge to build more positive relationships with their children. The course was offered to current non-residential fathers who were having either supervision or change-overs with their children. The fathers who participated were at varying levels, some were moving from supervised contact to change-overs and others had only just been to court and were waiting for contact to commence. The program was run over six sessions and we had 100% attendance. All the participants interacted, some were very quiet at the beginning but once the trust was built, the conversations were rich and reflective. In their participants’ surveys everyone reported their relationships with their children had improved and that they now felt confident in meeting their children’s needs. This was further highlighted by a dad who disclosed that during his most recent supervision, and through applying what he had been learning at Circle of Security, his son hugged him for the first time in years.
“This Circle of Security course was very beneficial for the stage of my parenting at this present time. The way the course was taught it was very easy to put the teaching into practice. Being an all-male course made it comfortable to talk about personal situations. I would recommend this course to every parent as the result in such a short time is remarkable.”

“I really enjoyed the program. I am eager to improve my skills as a parent and this course has done just that. It benefited me most meeting other parents going through the same thing and talking about what was happening and knowing it is going to get better. Everything we spoke about was relevant to me being a first time dad. I found it most helpful and it has changed my parenting approach for the better”.

“I was unsure at the start of the program but now I have learnt a lot about myself and what my son’s going through.”

“This is the best thing I ever did for us (my son and I). It’s opened my eyes to be a better parent for me and my child.”
“A home is somewhere safe for me and my children. I also love the rural area as it is a slower pace and relaxing and the community is friendly.”

Parenting between cultures

ac.care believes collaborating with other organisations is the best way to achieve outcomes for the community. As an example we partnered with the Mount Gambier Migrant Resource Centre (MRC) and Mount Gambier North School to offer the Parenting Between Cultures course to refugee families from Karen and Karenni backgrounds. The refugees had identified a need to develop parenting skills and confidence was identified by the community themselves. Developed by the Marymead Child and Family Centre, the Parenting Between Cultures course is aimed at parents from culturally and linguistically diverse communities. The course was offered over six weeks at the MRC.

Although nine parents were initially invited to attend, news quickly spread about the course in the community and more individuals asked to be included. A total of 19 mothers and fathers registered and actively took part throughout the whole six weeks.

The parents had the chance to talk about their culture and how their parents raised them. It did not only give presenters valuable insight into the parents’ culture and beliefs, but also helped participants to measure their traditions against Australian methods of parenting. All participants expressed an eagerness to learn about parenting in Australia and asked for more support into the future after this course. They saw the chance to improve their parenting skills as a rare opportunity.

In their feedback survey all parents requested to do different courses in order to learn more about parenting and other areas that they are not familiar about (how to use a computer, how to keep children healthy, safety, raising teenagers). Most parents noted that the course taught them to be better parents and how to raise better children.

One mum said after the first session:
“I have put my hand-out on the fridge – this was so I can remind myself of different things to try.”
Tragic loss of loved ones led to homelessness

Cowen found himself homeless after a series of tragedies which took its toll on his family over a number of years. Cowen told us that his life went spiralling downwards and out of control with the grief he experienced after losing loved ones in a tragic accident. He was using alcohol as relief but this started to take over and he began having health issues.

“It took a great deal of courage to climb out of the dark place I was in” said Cowen. He acknowledges the support he received from ac.care staff and in particular his case manager Jenn who went “far beyond” anything he could have hoped for. He is proud of how far he has come.

ac.care supported Cowen with basic living skills and assisted him to get his finances and health back on track, and after several months in ac.care’s transitional housing, he moved into a private rental property.

Cowen has now restored relationships with his family and they are very supportive of each other, time and space allowing them to be a family again.

One of the difficulties Cowen experienced living in a small rural area was the discrimination he felt while experiencing homelessness. Cowen says he felt that many people blamed him for the situation he found himself in, and that he somehow deserved it.

To Cowen, home means stability, safety and the opportunity to enjoy the simple daily pleasures many of us take for granted, such as cooking and gardening. He loves the independence it brings him. Cowen continues to drop in regularly to ac.care’s Community Centre where he has found acceptance and a sense of belonging.
500 meals

Our strong partnership with Mount Gambier North R-7 School continued and a significant project we initiated brought in another partner, the Sunset Community Kitchen in Mount Gambier.

One of ac.care’s role at the Mount Gambier North R-7 School is to meet the needs of and engage with the school community. We noticed that a number of families were struggling financially. Our worker, Bernadette, knew that the Sunset Community Kitchen provided meals to families in need and approached them, who were happy to assist with cooking the meals. Various service providers work at the school, and any worker, as well as school staff, were able to offer meals to families. This gave us an opportunity to provide information on ac.care services, such as financial counselling and emergency relief support and it also gave parents the opportunity to chat informally with a worker about their worries and be offered support. Five hundred meals were provided, all meals are single adult serve (or 2 child’s serves) and are frozen and pre-prepared, only needing re-heating.

Brooke Wilson, Manager Family Services said ‘an example of the outcomes of this initiative were a family that had been very hesitant to accept any support from local services became engaged, as the meals provided a soft entry point. Another example was a family that staff had been concerned about had shown noticeable improvement in their reading and their overall engagement in class.’
Making Mandala Magic

Our Hippy Parent Group, Making Mandala Magic, offered an opportunity for parents and children to collaborate in making natural designs with found objects in Reedy Creek. This activity focused on one of the key learning outcomes; Everywhere Learning. It was a beautiful opportunity for the children to connect with their parents, each other and more broadly, our environment. The activity set the tone for children to engage in cooperative and imaginative play and demonstrates the strength of the Hippy parent groups. As one of the supportive frameworks that brings our participating families together.
One of our major projects was the doubling of the number of Therapeutic Strength Based Care (TSBC) Homes. The Limestone Coast now has three additional TSBC Houses. Two houses can cater for three children and one house for four children. The additional houses making a total of six provided the opportunity to keep the siblings together rather than them having to be split up across different programs/agencies.

The children and young people in our Therapeutic Strength Based Care homes are given opportunities for new experiences and support with the schooling and hobbies. Whilst often we refer to the TSBC homes as ‘our homes’, they are the homes of the children and young people. We come to their home, they do not come to our workplace.

One of the children was in Year 3 but his reading ability was at reception level when he came to us. He worked his way up to a year two level in one year and is confidently reading to staff at night. This child has grown in confidence. Our staff work very closely with the primary school to assist his educational outcomes.
All the children have a story read at night, even the 16 year old who finds this a positive experience.

Other young people in the homes have made the SAPSASA team, graduated from their school based program, been fostered by a family, reunited with family, gone horse riding on a school holiday camp. All children in the homes are engaged in school. Some special activities included:

- Visiting a dairy farm to look at how food was processed
- Visiting the Halls Gap Zoo with the day being a great success.
- The local airport was where they had a look in a plane and many had never been in a plane before.
- All the children are engaged in tending to the house vegetable garden and show a great interest in the produce.
- We have a young child engaged in dancing, calisthenics and swimming.
- A teenage girl was a member of a local disability bowling group, she was supported by a carer at these games. She also attended the local disability netball club and travels into Victoria for tournaments supported by a carer.

Collaborations

ac.care believes that the way to create opportunities for life ... for rural people is through collaborations. The complexities people are presenting with and social justice issues cannot be solved by working in isolation. It is through the whole of community coming together that we can make a difference.

The Tenancy Education Program (TED) is a homelessness prevention strategy. The pilot program in Mount Gambier was established with the funds from the Support Homeless People Luncheon. It achieved positive outcomes and we were able to continue to run it. Through other funding sources we have been able to run the successful service in Berri and Murray Bridge.

In 2016 there were 130 participants from our three regions – Limestone Coast, Murray Mallee, Riverland. Of these participants 80% were successful in sourcing and/or maintaining a sustainable tenancy.

Topics included in the program are; maintaining wellness, presentation skills, tips about energy consumption, budgeting goal setting, employers expectations, maintaining a sustainable tenancy and local support networks available. These topics are delivered by local businesses, organisations and ac.care staff.

TED won the 2017 Australasian Housing Institute - Leading Community Engagement Practice Award.
Stand Like Stone Foundation

A significant educational scholarship has been established in an effort to support young people with a connection to the Limestone Coast who have experienced foster care.

Founding donors Kaye and Bob Dalgarno approached the Stand Like Stone Foundation with a desire to enable opportunities for young people who have experienced foster care, kinship care or government care.

The LE and NC Myers’ educational scholarship will support young people, under the guardianship of the Minister or who have exited the guardianship of the Minister, to achieve their goals in vocational and tertiary education.

New optimism and a brighter future

“I spent the day with the client last Friday helping him move into his new HSA accommodation. I just wanted to thank you for the great work that you have done with him in supporting him to get stable accommodation and, more importantly, the hope that you have instilled in him for a better future. I know that he has greatly appreciated the effort and support you have provided him over the past months and it is wonderful to see the optimism that he has for his new house, his family, and his ongoing prospects. You should be very proud of the rapport that you have been able to develop and outcomes that you have achieved in fostering a bright future for him. Well done!”

Impacts on children living in an Ice Household ac care hosted a family law information evening at the ac.care White Avenue conference centre for over 50 professionals who work in the family law sector in the Limestone Coast region.

The Hon. Judge Peter Cole of the Federal Circuit Court presented a paper by Judge Turner titled “Possible Impacts on Children Living in an ICE household”. The format for the evening was a panel discussion with Judge Cole, Nicola Atchison (Independent Children’s Lawyer), Lisa Ransom (Department for Child Protection) and Jean Kerslake (DASSA - Drug and Alcohol Services SA). The panel offered important insights into the topic.

When this event was suggested, Judge Cole asked that a small attendance fee be charged, with the proceeds going to our service. This contribution was used to purchase new equipment for our site – a great benefit to the many children who use our service.

Cops for Kids donated $20,000 for our Youth Resilience Scholarship fund. This donation supports primary and secondary school children living in the Limestone Coast, Murray Mallee and Riverland regions of South Australia who use ac.care’s services.

The aim of this scholarship is to provide encouragement, financial assistance and support to the most disadvantaged primary and secondary students so they have the best chance of succeeding in their education. Children who use ac.care’s services, either individually or through their families/guardian, can be nominated for the scholarship.

Cops for Kids Committee member and Millicent Police Officer, Senior Constable Nick Patterson said, “Whilst we support many charities across the State, we are particularly pleased to help charities who provide specialised support services to country regions who generally do not have these essential services available. We live and work in these areas and want to help the local communities where we can”.

Our successful partnership with Cops with Kids in establishing the foster carer resource library in Berri, Mount Gambier and Murray Bridge was pivotal in being able to continue to fund this scholarship. We are so pleased we are able to provide extra supports to the most disadvantaged in our community.

Shout winners

Congratulations to Simon, Simon, Steve, Peter, Ian and Tony for winning Australia’s Loudest Shout at the Cave Gardens Mount Gambier in November on White Ribbon Day.

The first Shout was held at the Blue Lake in Mount Gambier in 2007. This White Ribbon Day event was created by Anne Hinkly-Tyler (ac.care) and Susie Smith (Limestone Coast Domestic Violence Service) and now has communities around Australia performing the shout ‘no’ to violence against women and children.

This is the first time the ac.care team has won - well done guys!
Wyatt – funding for financial counselling

Our partnership with the Wyatt Benevolent Institution Inc (Wyatt) has been in place since 2010. The Wyatt Trust grants are targeted to meet specific needs of eligible South Australians and their families. Our partnership with the Wyatt Trust has added value to our financial counselling services since inception.

The object of the program is to enable people on low incomes, who are experiencing personal financial difficulties to receive financial counselling, support, information about money management and advocacy. It helps individuals and families to navigate financial crisis through the provision of an appropriate, free and confidential service.

Services are provided in our three regions on an appointment basis and we endeavour to see our clients within two weeks of initial contact.
Community partners for early learning

ac.care in Murray Bridge auspices federal funds through the Communities for Children program and works with other organisations – our community partners - to deliver the services to families. These activities and programs are designed to assist with early learning in literacy, numeracy and social skills for children aged 0 - 12 years who live in the Murray Mallee region. The Communities for Children funding means country children have access to evidenced based parenting programs, play groups and school term holiday activities.

The community partners are:

- Aspire – offering parenting programs, playgroup and professional development opportunities for people working with young children.
- Centacare - delivering programs through Fathers and Families' program, including Antenatal and First Year Families, Beyond Kayaking, School Holiday Kayaking and more.
- Mid Murray Support Services – Mannum Community Hub - parenting programs, playgroup, Seasons for Growth program, Kids' Club and school holiday activities.
- Schools Ministry Group – offering the Wellbeing Classroom
- Tailem Bend Community Centre - deliver activities for children in the Coorong district and also delivering School Holiday activities in Murray Bridge and Callington.
Naracoorte Mental Health Festival

Michelle Probert from our family support program and Dianne Doll from personal success coaching and counselling programs represented ac.care at the Naracoorte Mental Health Festival Expo.

This event was a success with over 1,000 students and community members visiting the marquee to learn about local services. ac.care was one of 35 services to attend and provide interactive activities.

ac.care encouraged people to think about their strengths and write one of their strengths on a banner. There was also information about services, hints and tips for building resilience and managing stress and promotional give-aways.

The expo gave community members the opportunity to find information about organisations that service the Upper South East, as well as work towards breaking down the stigma of mental health and promote positive wellbeing. The day also included two presentations from youth motivational speaker, Nathan Hulls.

New Berri Office

ac.care Berri moved to new offices at 5 Kealley Street.

After 10 years ac.care needed to move to new offices to meet the community’s needs. The previous offices served ac.care and their clients well but the organisation has outgrown these. The new offices provide more space to allow for client meetings, training rooms for foster carer and staff training. We now also have the ability to host meetings of community interest such as the Riverland Community Services Alliance. The move means there is easier car parking for clients.

Services located at new address include:

- Aboriginal Youth Development
- ac.care Housing
- Emergency Relief
- Family Support, Reunification and Preservation
- Financial Counselling
- Foster carer recruitment, support and training
- HIPPY
- NILS loans
- Opening Doors
- Riverland Homelessness Service

Senior management working from Kealley Street office and living in the Riverland include:

- General Manager Community Services
- Manager Foster Care Support Services

- Program Manager Riverland Homelessness Service
Cathy Risely from the Limestone Coast Homelessness Service has retired after over 20 years of service with ac.care.

An afternoon tea was held for Cathy to say goodbye with many of her former and current colleagues attending.

Cathy joined ac.care in 1995 as a trainee and soon moved into the homelessness service. Cathy has witnessed many changes, from different names for our organisation as we have grown, to various moves to new office locations and policy changes for the homelessness sector. Most importantly she has supported generations of people when they have found themselves homeless or at risk of homelessness.

Thank you Cathy for all your hard work, compassion and dedication.

Women’s Leadership Institute Scholarship

Amanda McKinnon, Executive Assistant to CEO, received a Women’s Leadership Institute Australia and Institute of Community Directors Australia scholarship to undertake the highly valued Diploma of Business (Governance) qualification.

‘Recently I came to realise that I would like to be a greater support to the ELT (Executive Leadership Team) and Board when it came to governance.

When I researched available courses the Diploma in Governance through the Institute of Community Directors Australia seemed to be the best fit for ac.care, as well as my needs. Then I saw that a scholarship was available and with the full support of Rob, the Board and the ELT I applied. Doug (our General Manager People and Culture) was very helpful too in advising how to proceed and less than a fortnight later I was informed I was successful."

Louise graduates and thesis published

In 2016 Louise completed her Bachelor of Arts Psychology Honours degree through the University of New England and became a registered Provisional Psychologist.

Louise is now completing her Masters in Clinical Psychology in order to become a Registered Psychologist (this is a requirement to practice as a psychologist).

In addition to this, Louise was notified that a paper she co-authored as part of her Honours’ Thesis is was to be published in a professional psychology journal. This is an impressive achievement and we congratulate Louise on her graduation and her forthcoming published article.

“Louise has put in a lot of time, commitment and hard work into gaining this qualification and into her study. I am really proud of what Louise has achieved and wish her luck with the rest of her study” said Rachael Barrett, Program Manager FRC, FARS and PAS ac.care’s operating result for the year ended 30 June 2017 was a deficit of $76,384 (2016 surplus $429,915 (after adjustment for housing merger and asset recognition), 2015 $182,551). The budget for the 2017/18 financial year also indicates that achieving the targeted 1.5% surplus is going to be a significant challenge for the organisation. On a positive note, the targets for financial sustainability and stability continue to be met, an indication of the underlying strength of the organisation.

ac.care has been building the foundations for long-term success. As a board we have explored issues of organisational culture, values and purpose. As in previous years, financial sustainability continues to be a major concern. With these building blocks now in place we are well positioned to take on this challenge.

There will however be more challenging times ahead. Both management and the audit team have identified the following emerging trends that are likely to impact on the organisation into the future.

- Governments moving away from block funding models
- Trending toward activity based funding models that places control with the consumer i.e. NDIS, aged care changes.
- Increased focus on ensuring quality of activity costing, budgeting processes and financial reporting

While the exact details of these changes are currently unclear what is evident is that we will need to be adaptable to new funding models.

I would like to conclude by thanking Robyn, her team and my fellow members of the Audit Committee for their support and efforts throughout the year.

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol:

Note that in preparing this inventory reference has been made to the accounting standards and principles identified in the Greenhouse Gas Protocol, produced by the World Business Council for Sustainable Development and the World Resources Institute. Also used were the National Greenhouse Account (NGA)Factors July 2017. These resources are available from the Australian Government climate change website www.climatechange.gov.au.

Direct emissions (scope 1) are as a result of the organisations activities within its organisational boundaries. Indirect emissions are generated in the wider economy as a consequence of the organisations activities, and are physically produced by the activities of another organisation. Electricity consumption is designated scope 2 and all other indirect emissions as scope 3.
